MEAT AND MILK.

BUT POOR PROVISION MADE AGAINST DISEASED SUPPLIES.

A Suggestion to Establish Common Slaughter-Houses by City Ordinance — Mayor Francis Preparing a Call for a Special Session of the Municipal Assembly — The Extension of the Water-Works System — Municipal Notes.

To-day Dr. Paul Faquin presented to Health Commissioner Dudley a report on his investigations into the cases of Texas fever which developed recently in dairies in the southern part of the city. A fact of considerable importance to cattle-owners is reported, namely, that there is no danger of contagion among native stock. Dr. Faquin mentioned this fact after his investigation of the Western dairy, and at the request of the Health Commissioner, sent the results in a written report in which he suggests the great necessity of enacting ordinances to facilitate the inspection of stock and milk. His report is as follows:

Dr. Dudley, President St. Louis Board of Health.

According to your request I made an official inspection of the disease, cattle at the Western dairy, and the dairies of the Carondelet. The animals in question are suffering from the so-called Texas fever, an anthrax, and some cattle have been imported which have been brought about by Texas or other foreign cattle from Southern States.

In my official capacity I could order the inspection of all the cattle in the city which has brought the disease. But you will please bear in mind that native cattle suffer from the disease, and give the same to other natives, and therefore it is useless to quarantine Mr. Held's stock. So as no foreign cattle have been brought about by Texas or other foreign cattle are concerned they are not on the pastures or roads, and cannot contaminate the germs, so they cannot be reached.

Thus in this case I cannot help you officially. So far as the people of St. Louis are concerned, I would suggest to you to do very singular that no steps are taken to protect them from the dangers of milk or meat made from diseased stock. Can no adequate city law be passed? I should judge that nothing short of one or more city ordinances will do this, and consider (I mean outside of the city) for milk producers that a carefully inspected by men competent to judge of the disease, and the safety of the citizens of St. Louis on a safe basis regarding infections and deadly maladies brought about by milk and meat from diseased stock. Any fermentations resulting therefrom. Being very much pressed in my official duties I cannot pursue my investigations any further at present. Yours, etc.,

PAUL FAQUIN, M. D., V. S.

State Veterinary Inspector.

At the Health Department a proposal to establish common slaughter-houses where all the meat intended for consumption here or abroad would be sent to the same, and specified meats with general approbation, but there are only small hopes of carrying an ordinance to establish this system through the Municipal Assembly.

Special Session Legislation.

Major Francis has not yet issued his call for a special session of the Municipal Assembly for the approval of contracts. He was asked to-day when the session will be held, and stated that the call will be issued in a few days. The proposed bill will be referred to the attention of the Assembly at its special session of the 21st. He said he had the responsibility of giving the question to the Assembly at a special session, when some difficulty will be experienced in getting a sufficient majority to transact business, which must be disposed of before the 1st. He has been in favor of the bill, and the Chain of Rocks has repeatedly suggested the subject in his messages to the Governor. He said when he is able will go to Sweet Springs.

It is the opinion of Mrs. R. W. P. Fickel, his ankle broken by jumping down, — Prof. Fickel will finally go through in this shape.

It is being reported that the bill to appoint a committee of engineers to examine the ground and to submit plans for the school will be introduced by the War-Commissioner. — Mr. W. A. Oldham, who has been a few days at Valparaiso, Ind., has returned home Saturday. — Rev. Mr. Sanders has returned from Michigan, and is at Lake Minnetonka with Mrs. Sanders.

P. Fickel, his ankle broken by jumping down, — Prof. Fickel will finally go through in this shape.

It cannot be expected that the backbones of the bill will be broken, as the difference between the two sides of the question is not great. — Prof. Fickel, his ankle broken by jumping down, — Prof. Fickel will finally go through in this shape.

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p.m. to-day, for Missouri are: Fair-weather, preceded by rain in the southeast portion; winds becoming variable; slightly warmer.

A few dollars spent on street-cleaning would save a few dollars in the sprinkling appropriation.

It is hoped that our anti-sprinkling morning contemporaries are not made because a little rain has fallen.

GEN. BUCKNER's plurality in Kentucky is 17,015; but the Governor of Missouri grazed a defeat even closer than that, and still came out with colors more or less flying.

PRINCE FERNAND, who is now in Bulgaria, should take out his naturalization papers as soon as possible. If he fails to do this, his beloved subjects may fear that he has not come to stay.

The political temper of the times makes it probable that there are several doubtful States whose doubtfulness has not yet been made manifest. Next year may be memorable for its surprises.

BUFFALO BILL is going to have a typical American frontier bar attached to his Wild West show. This new feature of the show ought to stir the enthusiasm of the English to the highest pitch.

A CONTEMPORARY says that RIDDLE-BERGER probably feels more at home in jail than in the Senate Chamber, but there is no overwhelming reason why he should not feel at home in both places.

NEAL DOW says that the Prohibitionists must prepare the way for their great reform by destroying the Republican party. It has not been ascertained how much the Democrats paid Mr. Dow to make this statement.

The street-cleaning issue is hardly less important than the street-sprinkling question. On many residence streets built up from block to block the spring crop of grass and weeds is now ripe for the hoe of the street-cleaner.

THE Boston Herald is anxious for MAHONE to regain his lost ascendancy in Virginia. The mungwump is an eccentric animal, especially the Boston species. Perhaps the Herald likes MAHONE on account of his rigid civil-service reform principles.

THE Republican State Convention of Pennsylvania met to-day at Harrisburg, but no remarks were made about the "white slaves" of the anthracite coal region. It is safe to say, however, that the convention will not adjourn without passing a vigorous resolution in the interest of the rich protected class.

SINCE the Republican party has a United States ex-Senator who just missed the Penitentiary by the skin of his teeth, it is possible that RIDDLE-BERGER simply wished to break the record by actually getting behind prison bars. But Senator STANFORD may soon have a chance to eclipse the whole gang in this sort of emulation.

THE promptness with which Father CURRAN has obeyed orders in cutting loose from McGLYNN shows where the Catholics, priests and people, will be found in any question on which the Church pronounces officially. It is safe to say that next Easter the Anti-Poverty Army of HENRY GEORGE will not muster a single Catholic in its ranks.

WHILE Senator STANFORD thinks that the Pacific Railroad Commission has been "ungentlemanly" in asking questions, the convicted bidders of Chicago think that the people who effected their conviction failed to observe the usual requirements of civility and good breeding in performing the job. Our law-breakers are getting to be very fastidious set.

THE decadence of sectionalism is manifest in the lessened vehemence of partisans lying about the negro vote. For instance, it has been the habit of some papers to insist that every Southern negro who voted the Democratic ticket did so at the muzzle of a shotgun; but now some of these papers admit that some negroes are Democrats by untrammeled choice.

Last year the Globe-Democrat made the emphatic statement that a negro had no right to vote the Democratic ticket; and the same paper makes a substantial retraction of the statement in an editorial, published to-day, entitled "The Negro in Politics." Verily, the times change and we change with them.

THE MILK IN THE COCONUT.

NEAL DOW and ST. JOHN are both preparing for active campaign work in the interest of Prohibition, and a Republican paper, in noting the fact, says that DOW belongs to the class who "are in the movement because they sincerely believe it will assist in bringing about the moral or material advancement of their fellow beings;" and that ST. JOHN belongs to the class who "are in it for the money, reputation, or social position—but principally the money—that it will bring them."

Now why this mighty difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee? NEAL DOW and ST. JOHN are both laboring in the same way for the same thing; and there is no more reason for accusing one of mercenary motives than the other. After the Presidential election of 1884, some Republicans, in the blind agony of rage and disappointment, declared that ST. JOHN had been bought up by the Democrats, but no proof was ever adduced to sustain the charge. There is no good reason for believing that he is better or worse than the average reformer of the determined and energetic sort. NEAL DOW is now 84 years old, and of course there remains to him but a short season of work; while ST. JOHN is in his mental and physical prime, with a good opportunity before him to do a great deal for his party, and to work a corresponding injury to the Republican organization. There is this difference between the cases of the two men; and here lies the milk in the coconut, when Republicans begin to exult NEAL DOW and to denounce ST. JOHN.

ROM was not built in a day, and it is not to be expected that a complete system of street-sprinkling for a city as large as St. Louis can be launched in full perfection and complete working order at the very start. It is like the starting of new machinery. No matter how admirable it may be, there will be friction when it first begins to run; but in a little while the working will be smooth and satisfactory.

There is no reasonable ground for doubting the entire success of the newly inaugurated plan of sprinkling the streets of the city. There has been an urgent need of some plan of settling the dust on the street that should be better than the old one and more uniform in its operation. Only a small proportion of the population of the city can spend the hot months in pleasant quarters outside of the city limits. The great mass of the people must pass the summer at home, and to them the sprinkling question is one of the utmost importance. The provision for better street-sprinkling is a reasonable response to a just popular demand for relief from a serious and growing evil.

The initial defects of the new system should be pointed out at once by those chiefly interested in its success, in order that satisfactory results may be obtained as soon as possible. But there is no danger of failure. The sprinkling contracts have been let to responsible parties and they will be faithfully carried out.

THE political temper of the times makes it probable that there are several doubtful States whose doubtfulness has not yet been made manifest. Next year may be memorable for its surprises.

BUFFALO BILL is going to have a typical American frontier bar attached to his Wild West show. This new feature of the show ought to stir the enthusiasm of the English to the highest pitch.

A CONTEMPORARY says that RIDDLE-BERGER probably feels more at home in jail than in the Senate Chamber, but there is no overwhelming reason why he should not feel at home in both places.

NEAL DOW says that the Prohibitionists must prepare the way for their great reform by destroying the Republican party.

It has not been ascertained how much the Democrats paid Mr. Dow to make this statement.

THE street-cleaning issue is hardly less important than the street-sprinkling question.

On many residence streets built up from block to block the spring crop of grass and weeds is now ripe for the hoe of the street-cleaner.

THE Massachussets Situation.

From the Evening Post.

A signal of distress is hoisted by the Republican party of Massachusetts in the pathetic appeal, signed by Senators Dawes and Hoar and a long list of other magnates, and addressed to the Prohibitionists, imploring them not to be so foolish as to vote for the third party, when the Republicans party, with its "splendid national history," is ready to promise them anything—but the election. This is the signal for alarm.

THE BERNARDI object in making a pet of a tiger cat has at length been made public.

It is announced in the Parisian papers that the tiger is a most intelligent animal and has learned to tell a creditor as soon as it sees one.

It is further remarked that the tiger is generally large in Mme. Bernardi's drawing-room.

MISS MARGARET GILLIES, who died in England recently at the age of 84, was one of the pioneers of the English lady artistes. Her touch portrait painting was practically unsurpassed.

MISS CARRIE GOODALE of Philadelphia, an amateur also singer of considerable note, is one of the few song-birds at Atlantic City who can perform to bathe in the surf.

Miss Goodale says salt water tends to improve the voice.

MISS MARGARET G. MEADE died Wednesday at Washington in her 80th year. She was a daughter of the late Richard W. Meade of Philadelphia, and the eldest sister of Commodore Richard W. Meade, United States Navy, and of Maj.-Gen. George Gordon Meade, United States Army, the hero of Gettysburg, both of whom she survived.

THE latest fasting girl reported is Lulu Grin of Cumberland County, N. C. Lulu is 19 years old, and until June was robust. On the day she declared her fast she was weak and could not even drop a water, passed her lips until July 25, the fifty-second day of her long abstinence. She then took a tablespoonful of chicken broth. Her emaciation is not extreme after her long fast, and she does not seem to suffer from its effects.

METROPOLITAN PRESS.

What the Editors of the New York Journals Are Saying This Morning.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, August 17.—THE WORLD says:

"The prevention of the surplus by a reduction of taxes is a public, not a party, question, and it should be treated as such. In their national platforms both parties are committed to substantially the same line of action in regard to it. In the Republican resolutions it was declared that the party 'pledges itself to correct the abuses of the tariff and to reduce the surplus.' The Democratic platform is simply more explicit and emphatic in the same direction. All men who love their country more than their party, and who favor the people instead of monopolies and tax-eaters, should act together to stop the surplus."

MEN OF MARK.

GOV. HILL's private secretary, Col. William G. Rice, is making a horseback trip through the Berkshires hills.

It is reported that Prof. John M. Van Vleck of Wesleyan University will succeed John W. Beach as President of that institution.

CONGRESSMAN ERADY of Virginia warmly greets Mrs. Hancock, widow of Gen. Hancock, for the Washington Postmastership.

DOM PEDRO paid much attention to the Pasteur Institute in Paris, with a view to founding a branch of it in Brazil, where mad dogs abound.

MANUEL BARRIENT and wife of Matamoras, Mexico, recently celebrated the eightieth anniversary of their wedding. The husband is 102 and the wife 96.

GEN. SHERMAN's son is often seen on Lake George in an Indian canoe appropriately named the Teesuom. The young man is a member of the class of '88 at Yale.

FREDERICK GEBHARD has returned from his Western tour and now patronizes Monmouth Park races. He has a couple of good horses and runs them like a true gentleman.

GENERAL WILLIAM PRESTON of Kentucky is seriously ill at the White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia. The General is a hero of two wars and a leading Southern politician.

LORD HERSCHALM is at Newport. He was Lord Chancellor of England during the last session of the House of Commons on Silver.

THE widow of Gen. Grant is passing the summer at Long Branch, and is much improved in health and spirits that the members of her family have ceased to be worried about her.

DARWIN's biography, by his sons, is nearly finished, and will be published by Murray about the middle of October. The work will contain much correspondence of great interest.

EX-SENATOR GERBARD, notified by Surveyor General Julian's criticisms on New Mexican grants, is considering the advisability of answering the same in a communication addressed to the press of the country.

The President could have avoided much of the pressure for places from members of his own party and have better satisfied the civil-service reformers by announcing at the start that the public service was to be departmentalized as a matter of justice and of right. All offices related to the policy of the Administration should be filled with men in sympathy with it.
